Course Description

History 210 introduces students to the political, economic, religious, social, and cultural trends that shaped Europe from 1815 to the present. Students will learn the chronology of events as well as develop the ability to understand and analyze historiographical debates on those events.

Textbooks

- Hunt, Lynn, Thomas R. Martin, Barbara H. Rosenwein, and Bonnie G. Smith. The Making of the West: Peoples and Cultures. Volume II – Since 1500, Sixth edition. Boston: Bedford/St. Martin's, 2018 ($51.40).
- Derfler, Leslie. and Kollander, Patricia. (ed.) An Age of Conflict: Readings in Twentieth Century European History, 3rd edition. Fort Worth: Harcourt, 2002 ($20.99). – Will be available on MOODLE
- Additional reading materials will be made available in PDF format through Moodle online.

Course Objectives & Learning Outcomes:

During the semester, students will:

- a) Gain a broad understanding of the people, processes, and events that shaped the modern European history.
- b) Learn to analyze different sources, which offer different interpretations on events in European history.
- c) Make evidence-based arguments both in oral discussion and in writing.

This 3.0 credit-hour course fulfills the NC State Humanities category of the General Educational Program.

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- a) Identify the major political, economic, social and cultural forces that have shaped the development of modern Europe.

- b) Evaluate the kinds of oral, written and visual primary sources historians rely upon to reconstruct history in different periods and places, and critique the persuasiveness of interpretations of past or current world events.
- c) Produce an original historical argument grounded in primary source evidence that meets the standards of the historical discipline.

This course also fulfills the Global Knowledge category of the General Education Program.

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- a) Identify the major political, economic, social and cultural forces that have shaped the development of modern Europe.
- b) Identify points of convergence and divergence between different European countries.

Attendance

This class will be conducted on Zoom. For each class, I will send an invitation email to the students. Keep your audio turned off except when speaking to the class. You are required to leave your video turned on.

Class attendance is required. Students are allowed two unexcused absences without penalty. After that, each absence will result in a lowering of the final grade (i.e., A to A-; A- to B+; etc.).

If you anticipate an absence or have an emergency absence that is excusable under the University's guidelines, please inform me in advance or within one week after the emergency, and provide proper documentation verifying your excuse as required by the guidelines. Verification that a student has a legitimate medical or personal reason for missing class will be necessary to qualify for an excused absence. Excuses for unanticipated absences must be reported to me no more than one week after the return to class. Information on university attendance policies is available at <http://policies.ncsu.edu/regulation/reg-02-20-03>

Make-up exams and/or acceptance of late written assignments are possible only with written verifiable excused absence. You have to come to my office and discuss how and when you can make up work missed from Excused absence.

Presentation and Class Participation

Students are expected to come to class having completed the assigned readings. Every week, four students shall lead the week's discussion. Each student is expected to have one presentation on one of the assigned reading texts.

Here is a general list of criteria for formal presentations:

A —excellent. The presentation is of outstanding quality in all, or almost all, respects.

- Information is organized in a clear, logical, and coherent way.

- It reflects the main argument(s) of the text.
- The argument is supported with evidence.
- It places the reading in a larger historiographical framework given the other reading materials of that day.

B—good. Strong in all above mentioned areas or notable strengths in one balanced by significant weakness in another.

C—average. Adequate performance in one or more areas offset by serious weakness in others. For example, it shows the main argument of the reading material, but fails to provide supporting evidence.

D—poor. It shows notable problems in all areas.

F—unacceptable. The presentation shows a complete misunderstanding of the material.

A sign-up sheet will be made available at the first class meeting. Please, select the week that holds the most interest for you and/or works best with your schedule. Failure to be prepared for presentation will result in losing 200 points of the final grade.

You will be graded not only for presentation, but also for participation in discussions. So, you are required to complete each discussion session’s reading assignment. Our discussions will be much more stimulating if students have substantive ideas, spurred by the reading material, to contribute. In other words, your presence and active participation in class is crucial. Failure to be prepared for discussions will result in lowering of the final grade (by 100 points).

Grading

If you are taking this course to have as S/U, you need a final grade of at least a C- to earn an “S.”

Final grades will be based on the following breakdown:

First Paper	100
First Exam	200
Reading Responses	100
Second Exam	200
Presentation	200
Final Paper	200

Grades

A+ 970 – 1000	A 930 – 969	A- 900 – 929
B+ 870 – 899	B 830 – 869	B- 800 – 829
C+ 770 – 799	C 730 – 769	C- 700 – 729

Grading/Scheduling Changing Options Related to COVID-19

If the delivery mode has a negative impact on your academic performance in this course, the university has provided tools to potentially reduce the impact:

- Enhanced S/U Grading Option: Enhanced Satisfactory/ Unsatisfactory Grading Option
- Late Drop: Enhanced Late Drop Option

Before using any of these tools, discuss the options with your instructor and your academic advisor.

Academic Integrity

All students must comply with all provisions of the Code of Student Conduct and the Pack Pledge (“I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid on this test or assignment.”). Students should use quotations marks and author, title and page number citation for direct quotations in their papers. I hope no student will be found guilty of cheating or plagiarism.
